Time has been taken with each lens and addressed in a clear and concise manner  18-19 credits	The project is completed adequately . We can get a general sense of this text but the focus could have been sharper on a number of fronts  15-17 credits	The project is lacking in depth and breadth and is inadequate . Sorry, not quite sure I can grasp the full richness of this text through your work . . .  <15 credits

Rubric for Grading: Top 10 Lessons – 15 Credits – Due December 4

This paper is to be a simple declaration of the top ten lessons you have gleaned from this course. There may be many more things you learn from this journey but I want you to capture your top ten. This can be in a single spaced format and can follow a simple numbered sequence with one paragraph dedicated to each lesson. What is the lesson learned? Why is this important? One scriptural example or passage that applies this lesson.

15 Credits for a thorough yet succinct treatment of the two questions above and the example

12-14 Credits for a good coverage of the questions and example

11 or below for a fair coverage of the questions and less than stellar examples for each lesson.

Submission Requirements

All work must be submitted in 12 point word-processed form, double spaced between lines. Graphics or embellishments are not acceptable unless the syllabus instructions call for creative formatting. Cover sheets featuring the student’s name, the name of the paper, date of submission, course name and number and the instructor’s name are required. Footnotes must be used wherever and as often as any secondary sources are used. Wherever footnotes are used they must conform to seminary academic requirements. Students may choose to include handwritten work along with and in addition to final word-processed work if they so desire.

All assignments are to be turned into the professor via Moodle on the due date. Submission of hard copy work is also permitted but must be turned in class at the due date. Papers will be returned via Moodle or email or through on campus mail if a mail box number is included in the right hand corner of the cover page of the paper.

Late Submission of Work

All papers and assignments have set due dates. If work is submitted past the due date there will be a late submission penalty of one point for every two days that pass beyond the due date. So a paper worth 20 points of your final grade will lose one point every two days that go by beyond the due date. If you score an 18/20 on your paper and you are six days late, your score will be reduced by three points to 15/20. Don't be late!!

Attendance:

The nature of the class is such that attendance is mandatory at all classes. Students will interact with the instructor, the material, and with fellow classmates weekly – and this interaction is crucial to the design of this course. If an absence is required please communicate with the professor via email.

Grade Summary:

The available letters for course grades are as follows:

Percentage Equivalent Table:

Letter Grade	Description	% Equivalent

Because of the nature of the Alpha 4.00 system, there can be no uniform College-wide conversion scale. The relationship between raw scores (e.g. percentages) and the resultant letter grade will depend on the nature of the course and the instructor's assessment of the level of each class, compared to similar classes taught previously.

Please note that final grades will be available on student registration system. Printed grade sheets are not mailed out.

Other

The Big Questions of This Course:

1. How do we achieve the right balance in a message – establishing understanding and eliciting action?
2. How do I sharpen my skills in the work of interpreting scripture faithfully?
3. How can I best convey to a congregation my sincere love and hope for them in Jesus Christ?

4. What is the essence of exegetical insight?
  5. How do I cross the bridge from the text to real daily examples? What do we do when we struggle to find life experiences tied to the passage we are teaching or preaching?
  6. How can I best learn to exegete scripture without retreating to a purely scholastic perspective?
  7. What methods or practices will help me to keep God central in my study?
  8. How do we get to the best interpretation of scripture? How do we get to an accurate base line for a text?
  9. How do I best prepare to preach or teach so that it will result in life transformation?
  10. How do I so interpret that it is understandable – taking a passage that is difficult and moving it into something that is easier to understand?
  11. Have I learned enough from this course to make me “dangerous” as a teacher of God’s Word?

Our Most Challenging Areas: Surfaced in previous classes in PR601

1. Have I done justice to this passage? When is enough research enough?
2. Grasping the techniques and skills to interpret correctly
3. To understand correctly the meaning and intent of scripture within its own context of time and space and to distinguish the various genres and to then treat them appropriately.
4. Allowing the Word to penetrate my own heart rather than preparing for the sake of others and missing the need for the Word of God to go deep into me
5. Trusting that I can find valuable insights in my own research and analysis
6. The conflict between what has been said by others and experiencing a different perspective
7. The meaning / significance of the words in the original text, particularly when they are difficult to understand and apply (like OT passages that read like “hate passages”)
8. How much time should I spend on preparing a sermon?
9. I do acknowledge – I have preferred readings of scripture – How do I handle my biases?

Our Challenges . . .
