Course Description:

This course is a multi-dimensional travel study experience designed to explore early Christian landscapes in Ethiopia.

Church buildings, perched on precipitous hilltops, or cut deep into the rock, offer some of the most dramatic sights in Ethiopia. Of great variety and often of impressive workmanship in comparison to surviving domestic architecture, they constitute an important part of Ethiopia's heritage today. The Ethiopian Orthodox Church that they represent is the most ancient institution surviving in the country...For visitors to the historical sites of Ethiopia, the churches and the ceremonies that surround them are among the most striking features of the highland northern and central Ethiopians' way of life.

Stuart Munro-Hay, Ethiopia, The Unknown Land. (2002).

The Church in Ethiopia, while having under [the] Apostolic Church of St. Mark the Evangelist in Alexandria, holds to also have an Apostolic foundation with the Apostle and Evangelist St. Matthew. There, he preached the teachings of Christ but he apparently arrived after the Ethiopian eunuch had been baptized. The story is based on the Abyssinian version of the Apocryphal Acts of the Apostles, attributed to a certain Abdia and apparently written in Arabic.

Abba Abraham Buruk Woldegaber and Mario Alexis Portella, Abyssinian Christianity. (2012).

Any attempt to obtain credit for academic work through fraudulent, deceptive, or dishonest means is academic dishonesty. Plagiarism involves presenting someone else's ideas, words, or work as one's own. Plagiarism is fraud and theft, but plagiarism can also occur by accident when a student fails or forgets to give credit to another person's ideas or words. Plagiarism and cheating can result in a failing grade for an assignment, for the course, or immediate dismissal from the university. Students are expected to be familiar with the policies in the current Academic Calendar that deal with plagiarism, cheating, and the penalties and procedures for dealing with these matters. All cases of academic dishonesty are reported to the Academic Dean and become part of the student's permanent record.

Students are strongly advised to retain this syllabus for their records.
