Course Description

John Milton (1608-74) exerted an influence on the seventeenth century and on subsequent literature that can only be appreciated by studying his major works in some depth. Milton is all the more notable because of his role as a radical Puritan with a courageous and dissenting voice that continues to challenge conventional creative and religious thought. This course examines Milton's major poetic works and his major prose.

Expected Learning Outcomes

Diligent students of the course will:

- gain a broad knowledge of the life, times, and works of John Milton, one of the most important and sophisticated of English poets;
- understand Milton's use of rhetorical and literary conventions;
- understand the primary tenets of Milton's theology and political philosophy as it is found in his primary writings;
- consider the complexity of Milton's understanding and use of Christian doctrine and Scripture, and compare it with their contemporary understanding of these things.

"...the one thing that is indispensable for the study of literature is intimate familiarity with texts – familiarity of such a kind that the student cannot open any text at random and read more than ten lines without being reminded of a second passage, in some other text, which is relevant, and therefore illuminatory, in form and context. It is this kind of recollection which makes it possible to interpret literature without confinement to paths trodden by previous communications. It does not always come...as a result of deliberate efforts at memorization, it comes rather from the constant reading of texts for different purposes, with different questions in mind." K. J. Dover

Requirements and Evaluation

- Class sessions will be largely devoted to considering the assigned readings. Therefore:
 - Read all assigned texts *before the class for which they are assigned;
 - Always bring your textbook to class;
 - Print any readings posted on Moodle and bring them with you to class.
- Additional short texts introduced in class will be available on Moodle.
- Additional secondary reading may be assigned at the instructor's discretion.
- In addition to the assigned readings, you are responsible for the content of all lectures on these readings, including their historical and literary backgrounds. Therefore, attend class.
- All assignments are due by the beginning of class on the date specified.
- Late Assignments:
 - The penalty for late assignments is one refined letter grade per class day (T-F) late. Moreover, late assignments may be graded and returned later than on-time submissions.
 - Extensions may be granted on written assignments in exceptional circumstances, but must be arranged in advance.
- This is not high school: all assignments must be submitted to receive a passing final grade.
- The most current version of this syllabus will always be available on Moodle. You are responsible for any changes to it announced in class.

Participation & Reading Reports – 10%

This is a senior English course. As such, it requires active, thoughtful participation from each member: look alert, ask questions, share your thoughts, and visit my office when you need help. It goes without saying that doing all of this necessitates regular attendance: skip classes and your grade will suffer. Moreover, intelligent participation also requires thorough and careful reading of the assigned texts. To encourage this, you must submit one page of notes from your reading for ten different class periods, as assigned.

Explication Paper – 15%

Write a four page paper that provides a detailed literary analysis of a short passage of Milton's poetry or prose. Due September 27 in hard copy.

Article Critique – 15%

In a four page paper, describe and critique an assigned critic's argument about Paradise Lost. Due November 15 in hard copy.

Research Paper – 30%

Write a 10 page research paper on an important topic in Milton’s writing. You must submit your tentative thesis statement and list of secondary sources on December 1 to Moodle; the essay is due December 9 in hard copy.

Midterm Examination – 10%

This will be a twenty-minute oral exam (not of your teeth) in which I will ask you to respond intelligently to questions about particular early works of Milton and their relationship to his larger oeuvre. October 13.

Final Examination – 20%

The exam will be comprehensive of the entire course. Thursday, December 14, 9:00 a.m., Room A2133.

Further directions for these assignments will be given well before they are due.

Attendance

Class attendance is mandatory. Attendance will be taken daily and will influence your participation grade. Any student who misses more than 8 class sessions will automatically fail the course.

Classroom Etiquette

In order for each of us to get the most out of this class, please observe the following:

- Arrive on time. Attendance will be taken.
- Do not talk compulsively. Be self-aware and leave space for others’ voices.
- Do not be silent. Speaking is a crucial aid to formulating your thoughts on a topic.
- No eating in class: doing so can disgust others. Unslurped beverages are fine.
- Texting or having your phone beep, ring, or rumble during class is barbaric. Since university education is meant to civilize you, offenders will have their devices confiscated.
- Despite frothy claims to the contrary, technology does not usually aid learning. Therefore, students may not use any device more complex than pen and paper in our classroom. No laptops, no tablets.

Please note that final grades will be available on student registration system. Printed grade sheets are not mailed out.

Plagiarism is fraud and theft, but plagiarism can also occur by accident when a student fails or forgets to acknowledge to another person's ideas or words. Plagiarism and cheating can result in a failing grade for an assignment, for the course, or immediate dismissal from the university college. Students are expected to be familiar with the policies in the current Academic Calendar that deal with plagiarism, cheating, and the penalties and procedures for dealing with these matters. All cases of academic dishonesty are reported to the Academic Dean and become part of the student's permanent record.
